

HONG KONG MARITIME WEEK 2019

Hong Kong Maritime Week (HKMW) 2019, an annual signature event of our maritime community, is about to kick off on 17 November (Sunday). All organisers are now in the final preparation for this week-long spectacle. Please save the dates and join us on 17-23 November 2019!

To show our appreciation to the HKMW activity organisers for their unwavering support, the Hong Kong Maritime and Port Board (HKMPB) had invited them to join the “Get-Together” Session on 28 October, which has provided a platform for the HKMPB members to meet and exchange with the industry.

Ms Agnes Choi, Chairman of the Promotion and External Relations Committee of the HKMPB, first expressed her gratitude to all organisers and working partners for their continual support to the HKMW. She announced that about 50 activities would be staged by local and overseas industry organisations and professional associations during the Week. “The Week plays a key part in the Government’s drive to promote and grow our maritime industry. Through the Hong Kong Maritime and Port Board, the Government has been working with the industry in full swing to formulate and implement multiple initiatives in the past two years,” said Ms Choi. She wished that members of the industry and the general public would all enjoy the host of HKMW activities.
